

Michael Patrick Davidson
Global Workplace, Transformation & People Strategy
Executive Bio

Michael Davidson led the global workplace, transformation and people strategy for JPMorgan Chase as a Managing Director from 2010 to 2022, encompassing a ~200k Workforce, 500 Locations, 45 Million square feet and $2.7 Billion Annual Operating Plan.

Davidson's career spans thirty years with prior leadership roles at Morgan Stanley and Bank of America, all of which were global and include expatriate assignments in London and Tokyo.

Delivering on the vision for established and emerging businesses, the focus of Davidson's work involves understanding the core values and emerging requirements of the enterprise, aligning the people, technology and workplace strategy and developing a seamless operations plan to support the evolution from conception, launch to long-term fruition of commercial goals.

Strategic and financial planning, scaling organizations, developing high-performance processes, overall execution and establishing a strong diverse working culture are the domain of Davidson's experience to drive revenue, attract and retain talent and lead the efficient integration between HR, Technology, Real Estate, Compliance and Communications.

In 2012, Davidson completed The TRIUM Global Executive MBA Program and earned a degree conferred by the NYU Stern School of Business, London School of Economics & Political Science and École des Hautes Études Commerciales de Paris (HEC School of Management, Paris).

In 1994, Davidson graduated Magna Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa from Fordham University with a Dual Bachelor of Arts Degree in Economics and Philosophy, Cumulative GPA of 3.78

Davidson has completed thirty-four marathons across the seven continents, fundraised for a range of charitable causes and lives in New York City.
