Join Fordham REI as it continues its “She Builds” series with mega developer, MaryAnne Gilmartin, Founder and CEO of MAG Partners, for an inspirational discussion to learn about how this real estate executive founded her own development company and assembled a $1B pipeline in New York City and a 14M square foot transformational masterplan project in Baltimore. Joining MaryAnne in this conversation will be Michael Patrick Davidson, who over a thirty-year career has led global corporate real estate divisions at JPMorgan Chase, Bank of America and Morgan Stanley, based in New York, London and Tokyo. Learn how Gilmartin and Davidson navigated market forces, opportunities and disruptions along their career trajectories, and gain insights from different vantage points into how you can apply these lessons to your own career growth in commercial real estate.
